In the case of the Hudson insurance Company, there is in proof a letter written by Avery, who, in an affidavit read by the plaintif, swears that at the time of the affidavit (lettrary 13, 1852.) he was the secretary of the company. This farmishes no reason to presume that he was such secretary in November, 1851, when the suit was commenced, nor even in January, 1852, when the letter of Avery was written. But if such letter can be considered sufficient evidence, as coming from the secretary still I do not consider such an officer authorized to make admissions of indebtedness to bind the company. Such an authority must come from the Board of Birectors, and without proof of being so authorized a secretary has no power by an admission of this kind to bind the company. It is beyond the ordinary and appropriate sphere of bis duties. The difficulty of making out the plaintiff seaso arises from the state of the plaintiff, it would be better to claim upon the policy the amount of the loss. I think the merits of the original claim can be examined. EANGEAL AND CONTENTAL.

Monday, April 12 6 3. M.

Me stock market opened dull and a great this menting, and we have not noticed for long time so much apathy of the part of operators. There was no material variation in prices compared with those current at the close on [Saturday; but the market has no life, and the fancies must drop down to a much lower level, from the want of action on the part of holders. The only way to give activity to speculation is to let prices down several per cent, and then outside buyers might be attracted. The market closed this afternoon heavy, and with a decided downward tendency. The only stock on the list which has any signs of life is Morris Canal, and that looks as though a little proper care and management would give it great strength.

We have been requested, by those interested in the coal companies mining the big vein on George's creek and the Potomac river, to distinguish their coal, par excellence, as Westernport coal, in order to avoid the general prejudice which has been created against the coal sent from the Frostburg section o the coal fields, known as Cumberland coal, which unfortunately is intermixed with large seams of slate, the existence of which always indicates an inferior formation.

The railroad-which has been taken up under the most favorable auspices of the State of Virginia-intended to connect the Westernport coal fields with Alexandria, near Paddytown, on the Potomac, about twenty miles west of Cumberland, will be sixty miles shorter and of easier grades than the Baltimore and Ohio Railread, giving to the Westernport companies a decided advantage over those sending coal from Cumberland. ! The Miners' Journal of the 26th March reports the quantity of coal sent from Frostburg at 72,656 tons, and for the week ending the 2d of April 10,790 tons were sent down, making the entire aggregate receipts at Cumberland, for the quarter ending April 2, 83,446 tons-the whole produce of seven mining associations.

The special business of the Cumberland Company for the week ending the 26th of March, was 3,648 tons, and for the week ending on the 2d April 3,124, exhibiting a decrease of 524 tons, which is, beyond doubt, occasioned by the deficiency of coal ship-ping tonnage at Baltimore and Alexandria, notwith-standing the high rate of freight per ton, being two dollars to New York and Boston, and two and a half

The earnings of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Company, during the month of March, 1853, amounted to $35,678 39, against $10,067 29 for the same month last year—showing an increase in the month this year of $16,611 10.

Value of imports week ending April 8, 1853... Excess of imports over exports $1,276,904

The shipments of produce during the past week were pretty well distributed. Cotton, of course, formed the principal item of the aggregate. To Great Britain the value of breadstuffs exported last week exceeded that of cotton. To other parts of the world the value was made up of about the usual variety of manufactures, &c. There is nothing particularly new or important in the movement of any stable product. The wise heads at Albany are talking about tolls on railroad freights. They could not do a better thing for our Southern rivals, for Western freightsthe line of steamers of the Parker Vein Coal Compary, running between this city and Baltimore, secures via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the quickest and cheapest route between this city and Cincinnati. With these facts before them, to talk about tells would be folly.

The following resolution was adopted by the House of Delegates of Virginia, on the 25th of March:of Delegates of Virginia, on the 25th of March:— Resolved, That the first and second Auditors furnish to the Honse a joint statement of the public debt, after crediting the Commonwealth with the amount of debts actually guaranteed, on which the guaranteed parties have hitherto punctually paid the interest, and are likely to do so hereafter, and with the further amount of appropriations actually made but not likely to be called for, diatingal hing such appropriations as have been made contingent upon the subscription by private individuals or corporations of two-thirds of the amount of such appropriations and excluding from said statement the amount of the literary fund.

In accordance with this resolution, the Auditors

In accordance with this resolution, the Auditors have furnished the annexed statement of the actual indebtedness of the Commonwealth on the 25th of

The stimating the existing debt, the Auditors state that they have excluded the amount of the bonds of certain corporations guaranteed by the State, as the State is amply secured from loss on account of those guarantees by mertgages upon the preperty of those corporations and by their securities.

They have excluded the certificates of debt held by the Board of Public Works and of the Literary Fuas, being stocks in trust for the Commonwealth, the redemption of which is not contemplated.

They have not taken into the account subscriptions made by authority of law to the capital stock of internal improvement companies but not paid—the payment of which depends upon the contingency of the private stockholders making up their portion of the stock.

A parliamentary paper has lately been issued, showing the extent of the reciprocal trade between France and England, during the four years from 1848 to 1851.
